Sharkey said;

"I have besten McCoy he decisive style and there is no good reason why I should light him again. I man after bigger game. I want to fight either Pitzsinmons or Jeffries. The champlon got a decision against me through unfairness on the part of the referce, and I want to wipe out that defeat.

"If Jeffries won't put on the gloves with me, Pil meet Fitz. I beat him in San Francisco on a foul, but I am condent I can knock him out now, hence my desire to sign articles with him now. Says Malachy Hogan, the famou Chicago boxing authority, with reference to Oscar Gardner's recent engageent in the Windy City with Tommy

"Tommy White showed great form for an old-time boxer when he lined up against Ocear Gardner. The latter was Just as much of a disappointment. White had all his old-time eleverness and used his left jab as often as he wanted to. It did not hart Gardner, but the 'Ornaha Kid' was badly outpointed, and White would surely have received the decision had one been given. Gardner claimed after the fight that he did not let himself out because he has a big fight on with Terry McGovern for March 9. Even without fully extending himself Gardner certainly should have een able to get out of the way of White's Jabs more frequently than he did. On his showing Tuesday might there will be few who will pick him to go any great distance with McGovern."

The towboat Relief, which burned at The towboat Relief, which burned at Cincinnati Sunday night, was used there as a harbor boat. The river combination purchased her from Captain James Porter, of New Cumberland. It is likely that another boat will be ordered to Cincinnati to take her place. This makes two steamboats that the combination has lost since December.

Pittsburgh River News.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.-Navigation on the Monongahela and Ohio rivers is still open, but the steamboats are having a rough time. The towboats that left here Saturday with tows of coal for the south were compelled to go to the bank, and boats coming up stream with tows of empties, were also com-pelled to tie up. About the only boats moving are the packets. The Raymond Horner, which left here Saturday, is at moving are the packets. The Raymona Horner, which left here Saturday, is at Wellsville, Ohio, and the Ceorge Shiras and the Charley Hook are at Safe Harbor. The B. D. Wood is at New Cumberland, and at last accounts the Failie was helping her. The Coal City and the Ed Roberts are tied up at Burlington, near Wheeling.

According to dispatches received by Captain James A. Henderson, from Middleport and Huntington, the Ohio is full of heavy floating lee at both places, and the weather is very cold. Captain Henderson talked over the long distance telephone this morning, with Captain Crockard, of Wheeling, who said that at 10 o'clock the thermometer registered 26 above, but Captain Henderson is of the opinion that the sun was shining on it.

The windy weather on the river yesterday and to-day was advantageous to the boats. The wind blew the 1ce from shore to shore, and the high stage of water enabled the boats to keep in the channel. The high water also kept the rivers from freezing over, there being good currents. The three rivers are not closed at any point.

Wants Longer Spans.

A telegram from Washington says: "Captain Dravo, of the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange, was at the capitol to-day, in conference with Congressman Dalzell and others relative to certain improve ments to the navigation of the Ohio elver. He said the steamboat men want river. He said the steamboat men want action upon the construction of the railroad bridges at Steubenville and Bellaire, these bridges having been condemned by the war department and their reconstruction recommended. The river men want the channel spans of the bridges widened. It appears, however, that the acts under which these bridges were constructed did not require their alteration at the company's ever, that the acts are bridges were constructed did not require their alteration at the company's expense, as bridge bills now provide as that if they are widened the government will have to bear a portion, if not all of the expense. The Coal Exchange wants something done in the matter as noon as possible.

wants something done in the matter as soon as possible.

"Capitain Dravo also called at the war department and filed a remonstrance against the rebuilding of the Fort Wayne railroad bridge across the Allegheny river at Pittsburgh, unless it is built with wider channel span and greater height."
